San Diego Superior Court Expands Imaging Project

Beginning September 1, 2011, the San Diego Superior Court Imaging Project will expand to two more Central Division courtrooms. Starting September 1, all newly initiated cases assigned to Department 72 (Judge Timothy B. Taylor) and Department 73 (Judge Steven R. Denton) will be scanned.

With some exceptions, all documents associated with these cases will be imaged and available on computer for viewing by Judges Taylor and Denton, court staff, and parties involved. Public documents related to the scanned cases will be available to the general public on the court's website and on public kiosks at the Hall of Justice (330 West Broadway).

Judges Taylor and Denton will join Judge Jeffrey B. Barton in moving toward a paperless courtroom. Judge Barton became the first San Diego Superior Court judge to receive newly initiated cases in an imaged format on August 1, 2011.

For more information on the Superior Court's efforts to gradually move court operations in Civil, Probate and Small Claims to a paper-on-demand system, please see the 7/26/2011 news release posted on the San Diego Superior Court website (www.sdcourt.ca.gov).
