ADDENDUM TO PROSPECTIVE GRAND JURY NOMINEE QUESTIONNAIRE

The Grand Jury cannot be effective if everything is handled by the Jury as a whole. Therefore, the accomplishments of the Grand Jury will depend to a great extent upon the work of its committees. Committees may investigate a great variety of subjects, but if they attempt too broad an area of investigation, their findings will probably be of little value.

COMMITTEES

There are two types of standing committees: (1) Action and (2) Internal. They are formed to assist the Grand Jury in carrying out its civil or watchdog functions. Each Foreperson of a Grand Jury determines these committees and he or she can change the committees or their responsibilities from time to time as required by the Jury's interests and by the business coming before the jury.

Action Committees have substantive roles in the conduct of inquiries including investigation of complaints. Area of focus may include administration, finance, education, environment, health, law enforcement and social services. Each Grand Jury is free to determine its own action committee requirements.

Internal Committees have functions, which support the Action Committees and the Jury as a whole. Their duties are normally of an administrative nature involving little contact with the public or county officers. Internal committees may include: Complaints, Continuity, Public Relations, Recruitment & Diversity, Editorial/Study Issues, Legislative, Historian/Librarian, and Social.

Action Committees

Administrative/Audit Committee – Studies the organization, efficiency of operation, procedures, and any other similar matter that affect county government, city governments, and or special districts. Investigates and reports on the accounts, financial records, audits, systems and operations of city and county departments and other agencies of special districts and certain non-profit corporations.

Education Committee – Examines the method or system of performing duties, projects and programs, curricula, books and records of school and community college districts and certain non-profit corporations.

Environmental/Public Works Committee – Addresses quality of life issues such as air and water quality, waste management, transportation and urban concerns including; planning and land use, conservation, management of natural resources, and parks and recreation.

Health and Human Services Committee – Examines county-related services within the following County departments: Health and Human Services; Social Services; Area Agency on Aging; Aging and Independence Services; Commission on Children; Youth and Families; Veterans Services; Housing Services; Alcohol and Drug rehabilitation; and Veterinarian. Also has limited jurisdiction to investigate county contracts and their impact on private residential and health care homes.

Law and Justice Committee - Examines the following County departments: Sheriff, including County detention facilities, District Attorney, Public Defender, Juvenile Justice, Medical Examiner, Animal Control, Probation, and Disaster Preparedness. Also has interagency jurisdiction over the City Attorney offices and police departments in the cities within the County.

Internal Committees

Complaints Committee -

1. Processes complaints.
2. Maintains complaint status log and ascertains progress and closure of complaints.
3. Presents complaints to the Grand Jury for acceptance or rejection.

Public Relations, Recruitment & Diversity Committee -

1. Studies and implements methods of obtaining a diverse cross-section of qualified citizens of San Diego County in representation of the community on the Grand Jury.
2. Reaches out to the diverse communities to generate interest and support for participation in the Grand Jury process.
3. Issues press releases coordinated with the Superior Court Public Affairs Officer. Press releases for Grand Jury reports are decided on a case by case basis.

Editorial/Study Issue Committee-

1. Acts as editor for all reports, making changes in drafts submitted by the committee chairs for ease of reading, uniformity of style and organization and coordination of the report as a whole.
2. Prepares a timetable for preparation and approval of final reports and monitors progress so that the goal of issuing the reports prior to termination of the Grand Jury's year of service is met.
3. Recommends the format of individual reports and the overall Final Report to the Grand Jury for vote.

Social Committee-

Foreperson

The Foreperson must recognize that his/her most important responsibility is to make sure that the Grand Jury as a whole and each of the committees' function effectively and efficiently. To this end, he/she should be in frequent consultation with the various committee chairs and should require frequent progress reports as to the work being handled by each committee.

To a large extent, the success of the Grand Jury is dependent upon the Foreperson's skills in organizing and conducting meetings because the Jury must function as a body rather than as individuals. Since jurors have diversified experience, interests, and philosophies, it is the Foreperson's responsibility to prevent or minimize contentious factions from forming between jurors. The Foreperson must devote every effort to maintain a friendly unity of spirit. The Foreperson should strive to preside with tact, restraint, consideration, common sense, firmness, and a sense of humor, always keeping open communication between himself/herself and the other jurors.

The following are typical duties of the Foreperson:

- Calls meetings of the Grand Jury; presides at such meetings.
- Prepares the agenda for each session.
- Appoints standing and special committees; makes changes in committee assignments when deemed advisable.
- Signs all communications of the Grand Jury; authorizes news releases; transmits all reports to the Court.
- Acts as the official spokesperson for the Grand Jury.
- Administers oaths and admonitions.
- Speaks to interested groups on functions of the Grand Jury.
- Acts as ex-officio member of all committees.
- Brings all correspondence to the Grand Jury's attention at business meetings.
